Section IV. Terms of Reference

Background

Sudan has been an Observer State of IOM since 1993, becoming a full member of IOM in 1998. IOM Sudan opened an office in Khartoum in 2000, with activities focused on resettlement of refugees in collaboration with UNHCR. In 2002, IOM Sudan extended its activities to include direct assistance to Internally Displaced Persons (IDPs) and preparation for IDP return and reintegration. Since 2004 IOM's activities have increased to include: displacement and returnee tracking and monitoring, vulnerability assessments: community stabilization; durable solutions for IDPs in areas of high return; assistance to Sudanese migrants stranded abroad; assisted voluntary return and reintegration of Sudanese migrants; and specific assistance for the return of highly qualified Sudanese to contribute to the development of their country. Additionally, IOM services now cover the area of migration information, research, data collection and assisting in the development of national capacities in migration management, including in the regional and international context. IOM Sudan currently has six field offices in: South Kordofan, West Kordofan, Abyei Area, North Darfur, South Darfur and West Darfur. In September 19th 2016 at a High-Level Meeting on Refugees and Migrants, upon a formal signature Agreement between UN Secretary General Ban-Ki Moon and IOM Director General William Lacy Swing IOM became a related Migration agency of the United Nations System.

Rationale of the Assignment

In 2015, IOM commissioned a media monitoring and tracking exercise from August to September 2015. The findings of the monitoring created a foundation to inform media engagement and areas where Sudanese public opinion towards migration need to be positively influenced. The 2015 media monitoring report noted limited knowledge of the basic migration terminologies, negative and derogatory language use, media content was mainly news coverage; as well as a notable absence of migrant perspectives. Consequently the media monitoring report recommended raising awareness of Sudanese media on migration issues that can address the weaknesses of media coverage.

In 2016 and early 2017, IOM Sudan focused its communication work on offering positive migration messages, highlighting the valuable contribution of migrants to the socio-economic development of Sudan while encouraging community resilience to xenophobia as well as social cohesion. Thereby, IOM Sudan aims to humanize the securitized and negatively charged migration discourse in Sudan. In order to have a balanced and informational narrative around migration, it is important to have a more systemized relationship with local and national media actors who can play a crucial role in increasing awareness as well as in informing public opinion.

Therefore, to effectively address negative public opinion and increase awareness on migration, IOM proactively improved its relationship with the media through three media forums held in 2016 and 2017. The three media forums collectively gathered over 30 Sudanese journalists working in print, TV, radio and social media with key influence on public opinion. Topics in the forums included media technical skills trainings (social media use and ethical reporting) as well as orientation on migration terminologies. The media coverage of the forum participants are an integral part of this media monitoring exercise as stated below.

Purpose of the Assignment

The objective of the second media monitoring and tracking exercise is to follow up on the progress of these findings and recommendations as well as to identify how Sudanese media portray migration related issues within the country, in the region and in the world at large. In addition to generally monitoring migration related media coverage IOM also aims to more specifically track and monitor coverage by the participants of IOM Sudan's media forums; to assess the terminologies used as well as quality, framing and quantity of content; and explore ways to improve these forums and the organization's media engagement approach.

The exercise aims to comprehensively analyze local media reporting on:

- a) Migrants in Sudan;
- b) Sudanese migrants abroad;
- c) Government of Sudan migration management policies and frameworks
